

EdgeWORKS | Characters move the story. The story creates a world.

Why do we find particular people, scenes and historical events so attractive?
Because we can read a story into them.
Stories move the heart.

At EdgeWORKS, our job is to create stories.

We work in all genres and media: conceptualizing and scripting animated series, planning, charting and creating scenarios for games, authoring comics and penning novels.

We have a large and experienced staff of script writers and novelists able to produce any number of scenarios for any number of media quickly and simultaneously.

We are a group of professionals who can meet your needs.

And each project comes with a guarantee of quality.

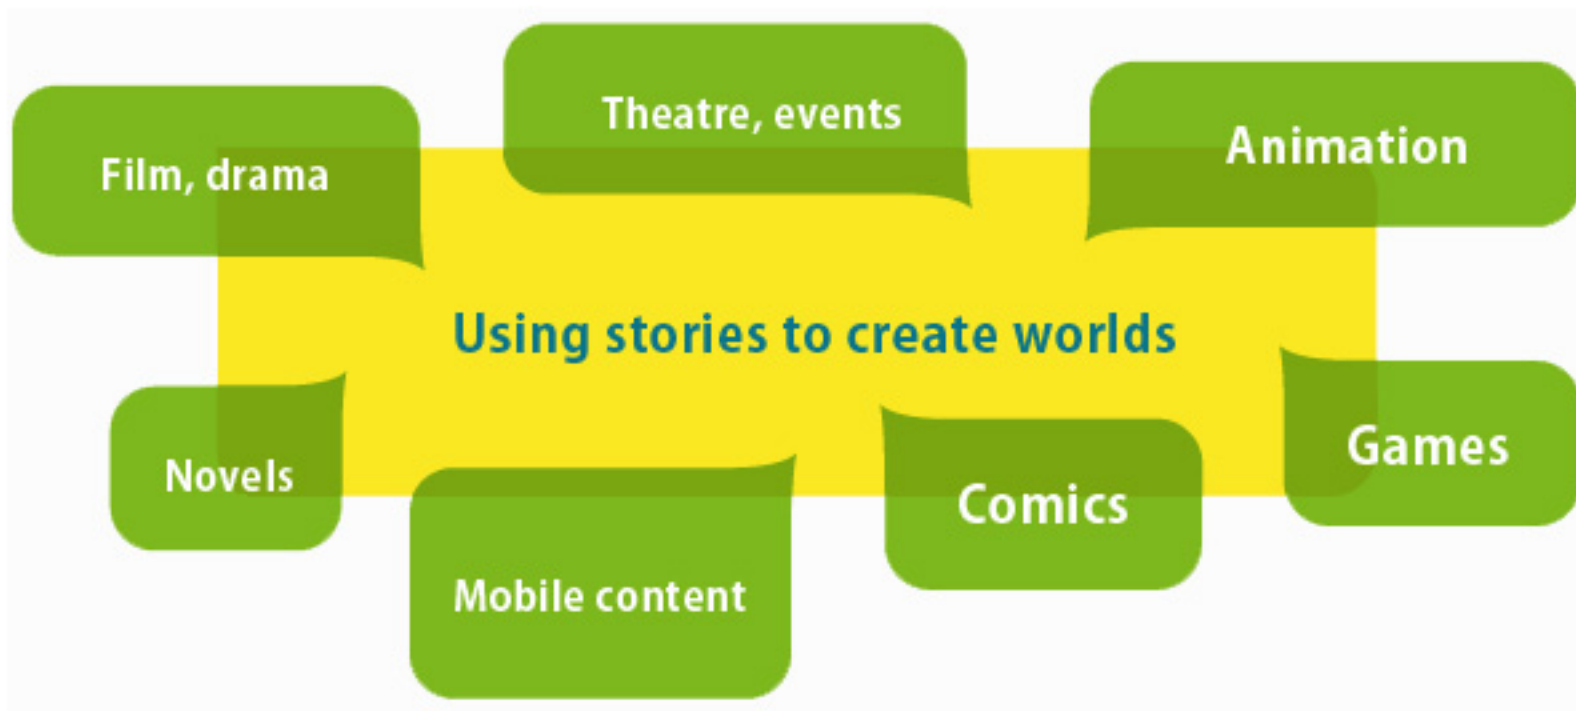

Just look at our track record to see what we can do.

EdgeWORKS continues to create new story worlds and to bring excitement and emotion to the world at large.

EdgeWORKS. Enriching the world through stories.

EdgeWORKS provides stories to many different fields.

We create worlds by developing stories for a wide range of content in a variety of genres.
That's EdgeWORKS' job.

EdgeWORKS responds to commissions flexibly.

We provide one-stop service that will take you from planning and drafting through the final scenario.
We also accept commissions at any stage of the production process.
As you would expect of professionals, we provide you upfront with lead times, delivery dates and budgets.
